Billy

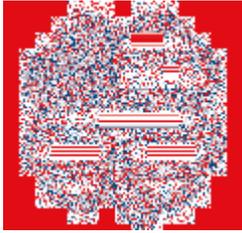

In an effort to tell a story or two about Bill for those in attendance who may not have had the pleasure of knowing him, we thought you would get a much more accurate picture of our brother and son if we listed a few fast and fun facts about Bill's life.

Did you know that Bill:

- called motorcycles “gully-gullys” when he was three years old
- held an assortment of jobs at Crane’s Surf City Hotel: dish washer, line chef, broiler guy, bartender
- loved beer but was attempting to become a wine connoisseur
- was a huge Eagles fan and shared season tickets with Mike Carmody
- liked to surf and sail
- obtained his captain’s license and took an outdoor survival class
- attended Bishop Egan High School, but we don’t think he ever went to prom (or we can’t remember ... if you were his date ... please remind us!)
- lived in Japan with Casey and Chris for six months to travel and ‘look for work’
- was a super uncle and organized holiday ice skating parties for the kids
- had the LONGEST eyelashes with big blue eyes and thick, curly, black hair
- had ‘inside shoes’ and ‘outside shoes’ when working at Bloomberg Tradebook
- gave Gerry Marrington the nickname ‘Pal’ because as a toddler he couldn’t say Mr. Marrington
- as an infant, his three older sisters fought over who was going to feed him and dress him
- often roped in his younger sister to participate as his comrade in crime
- had a famous early morning duck call
- his most uttered phrase was “The jeep is almost ready...”
- attended sunrise mass every Easter even though he was usually out until 3am the night before
- wore a John Travolta outfit at the Cusick’s Labor Day party (picture in journal)
- loved to sing Sweet Caroline at the top of his lungs
- gave a thumbs up or down on Meig’s many dates
- dreamed of owning a bar and opening a restaurant someday, possibly on Duck Island, NC
- was part of the “Brant Beach Crew” hanging out at the 58th Street bench
- took his sisters as dates to the Bloomberg Christmas party every December
- not only did he enjoy an array of eclectic friends, he also sported an eclectic attire, wearing a business suit, flannel, t-shirt or button down depending on the occasion
- learned to brush and braid Mary’s hair, and
- prepared, cooked and carved the Thanksgiving turkey every year, what a production!

Although this may not have been the CV that landed him a job at Bloomberg Tradebook, it certainly made him the perfect candidate for brother, son, cousin, friend and co-worker. There is simply no replacing him!

Much Love and Gratitude for You All – The Kelly Family

On Tuesday, September 11th, 2018, I attended an interfaith service in Hoboken's Pier A Park in memory of 9/11. The service was led by Hoboken's mayor with a few hundred residents in attendance. Having lived in the Mile-Square city for 17 years, I was reminded that 56 of my neighbors lost their lives on that day; more than 700 of them New Jersey residents. The living memorial, made up of 56 glass panels with the victims' names and birth years engraved, remains a solemn area for reflection and remembrance. I also learned that local first responders treated over 2200 people at a triage area that was setup just outside the Hoboken train station.

Which once again afforded me the time to pause and reflect and wonder if this is just Hoboken how many times does this story repeat itself? How many local communities were impacted; how many local memorials exist? What I found was simply amazing. There are 13 September 11th related memorials within 2 miles of Hoboken alone!

There are, in fact, thousands of tributes, most of them located far from the attack sites in New York, Washington, D.C. and Shanksville, PA. They're organized by family members, local governments, inspired artists, and many more. Some take on an abstract, modern vernacular, others more traditional motifs like statues and remembrance walls. Numerous contain original structural pieces of the World Trade Center itself.

The 9/11 Living Memorial is a tremendous resource that started as an extensive online collection of photographs of loved ones that were lost. Having partnered with the 9/11 Memorial Museum in New York City, they now maintain a database of memorials and remembrance events. All rely on public funding.

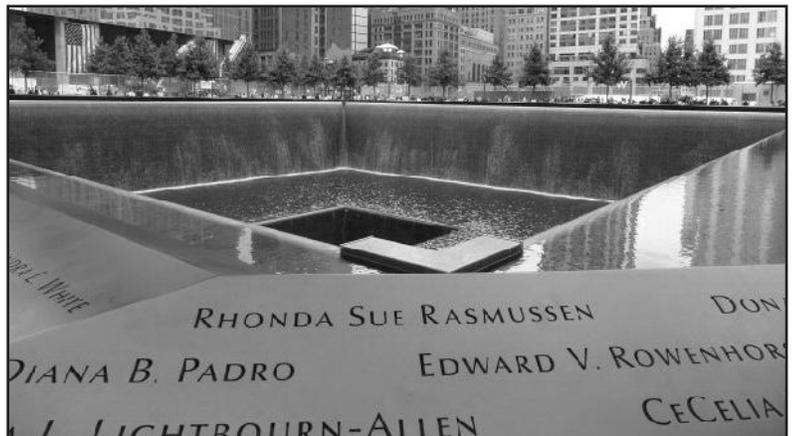

My hope is that in your travels you will take the time to locate and visit some of these amazing tributes.

On behalf of the Kelly Family, the Golf Classic Committee, and our volunteers, thank you for joining us today and for your continued generosity to the legacy of my friend Bill.

MEMORIAL GOLF CLASSIC

OCTOBER 5, 2018

Dear Family and Friends,

Once again we gather to celebrate the life of Bill. These past few years have allowed us to reflect on all who participate and how every person who attends to play golf, to volunteer or to feast on the wonderful meal have become part of our family in so many ways.

We are blessed to continue to receive letters expressing a person's thoughts on how they miss Bill and how he is kept in their prayers. In addition, we receive flowers with notes of condolence and get hugs and kisses from friends as well as strangers young and old. All these things come from people who are mourning the events of September 11, 2001. Many knew several people who perished that day. We, as a family, will never be able to thank all of you for what you have done for us and mean to us.

We share a simple note received a few days ago from one of Bill's best friends.

Dear Kelly Clan,

Greetings from the Pacific Northwest. While distance prevents us from participating in the tournament, please know that Billy is often in our thoughts. We tell our new friends here about how we met on LBI (thanks to him of course) and how JoAnne, after being the first person we told about our engagement, promptly pulled a bottle of Champagne from the fridge. Indeed, it's the family warmth that will stick with us as much as Billy's memory. You were always gracious hosts, often providing a table to sit at when I was a holiday orphan at Thanksgiving or Easter. Here's to a great day and warm sunny skies on October 5th. We hope this finds you well.

Love, Matt & Kristen

As we share another wonderful day of friendship together, our family thanks each and every one of you from the bottom of our hearts for your ongoing support in honoring Billy by creating a legacy of love to continue on in his name.

We especially want to thank the tireless stewards of the memorial golf committee, our hardworking volunteers at the event today, the golfers who are loyal year in and year out, and our sponsors who annually support all of our efforts!

With an Abundance of Love and Gratitude,
Bill and JoAnne

Full transcript, as translated by the Holy See, of Pope Francis' remarks inside the 9/11 Museum

Dear Friends,

I feel many different emotions standing here at Ground Zero, where thousands of lives were taken in a senseless act of destruction. Here grief is palpable. The water we see flowing towards that empty pit reminds us of all those lives which fell prey to those who think that destruction, tearing down, is the only way to settle conflicts. It is the silent cry of those who were victims of a mindset which knows only violence, hatred and revenge. A mindset which can only cause pain, suffering, destruction and tears.

The flowing water is also a symbol of our tears. Tears at so much devastation and ruin, past and present. This is a place where we shed tears, we weep out of a sense of helplessness in the face of injustice, murder, and the failure to settle conflicts through dialogue. Here we mourn the wrongful and senseless loss of innocent lives because of the inability to find solutions which respect the common good. This flowing water reminds us of yesterday's tears, but also of all the tears still being shed today.

A few moments ago I met some of the families of the fallen first responders. Meeting them made me see once again how acts of destruction are never impersonal, abstract or merely material. They always have a face, a concrete story, names. In those family members, we see the face of pain, a pain which still touches us and cries out to heaven.

At the same time, those family members showed me the other face of this attack, the other face of their grief: the power of love and remembrance. A remembrance that does not leave us empty and withdrawn. The name of so many loved ones are written around the towers' footprints. We can see them, we can touch them, and we can never forget them.

Here, amid pain and grief, we also have a palpable sense of the heroic goodness which people are capable of, those hidden reserves of strength from which we can draw. In the depths of pain and suffering, you also witnessed the heights of generosity and service. Hands reached out, lives were given. In a metropolis which might seem impersonal, faceless, lonely, you demonstrated the powerful solidarity born of mutual support, love and self-sacrifice. No one thought about race, nationality, neighborhoods, religion or politics. It was all about solidarity, meeting immediate needs, brotherhood. It was about being brothers and sisters. New York City firemen walked into the crumbling towers, with no concern for their own well-being. Many succumbed; their sacrifice enabled great numbers to be saved.

This place of death became a place of life too, a place of saved lives, a hymn to the triumph of life over the prophets of destruction and death, to goodness over evil, to reconciliation and unity over hatred and division.

It is a source of great hope that in this place of sorrow and remembrance I can join with leaders representing the many religious traditions which enrich the life of this great city. I trust that our presence together will be a powerful sign of our shared desire to be a force for reconciliation, peace and justice in this community and throughout the world. For all our differences and disagreements, we can live in a world of peace. In opposing every attempt to create a rigid uniformity, we can and must build unity on the basis of our diversity of languages, cultures and religions, and lift our voices against everything which would stand in the way of such unity. Together we are called to say "no" to every attempt to impose uniformity and "yes" to a diversity accepted and reconciled.

This can only happen if we uproot from our hearts all feelings of hatred, vengeance and resentment. We know that that is only possible as a gift from heaven. Here, in this place of remembrance, I would ask everyone together, each in his or her own way, to spend a moment in silence and prayer. Let us implore from on high the gift of commitment to the cause of peace. Peace in our homes, our families, our schools and our communities. Peace in all those places where war never seems to end. Peace for those faces which have known nothing but pain. Peace throughout this world which God has given us as the home of all and a home for all. Simply PEACE.

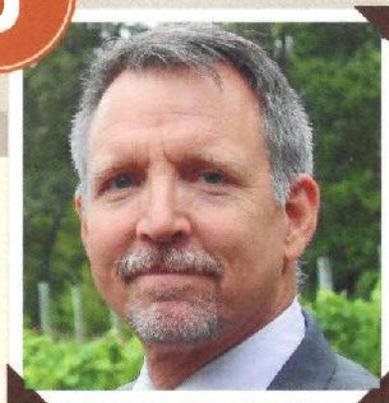

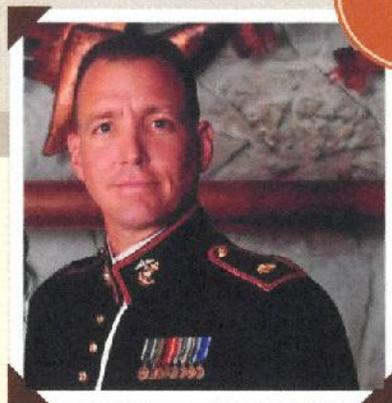

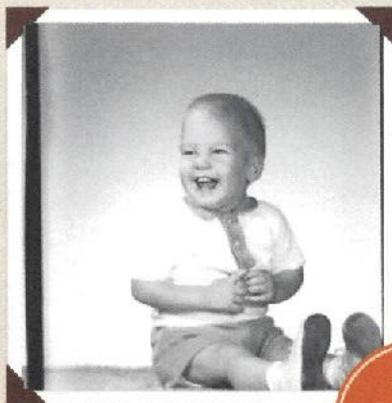

In this way, the lives of our dear ones will not be lives which will one day be forgotten. Instead, they will be present when ever we strive to be prophets not of tearing down but of building up, prophets of reconciliation, prophets of peace.

How does one measure a man?

Look at his faithfulness of his passions
here on earth;

GOD
MARINE CORPS

We will miss you!

All proceeds from today's event will benefit
The William Hill Kelly, Jr. Scholarship at The University of Scranton.

The William Hill Kelly, Jr. Scholarship is a needs-based scholarship to help preserve the University of Scranton's mission of excellence and accessibility. The University of Scranton has advised they have numerous students who encounter significant financial hardships during their junior and senior years, causing some to withdraw.

Each year, the University of Scranton selects a qualified, current junior or senior who demonstrates financial need for The William Hill Kelly, Jr. Scholarship. This student must also display exceptional kindness, generosity of spirit, and a genuine love of the outdoors. It is our hope that the scholarship will become a living tribute to Bill and the way he lived his life.

* Recipients 2018-2019

Michelle Bochanski

Michelle was born and raised in Southern New Jersey (Washington Township). She graduated from the University of Scranton in 2007 with a B.S. in exercise science and a Doctorate of physical therapy from the University of Rhode Island in May 2010. She is currently a licensed physical therapist employed by Main Line Health at Riddle Memorial Hospital in Media, PA. She works between the hospital and an outpatient clinic and has become involved with a program to educate hospitalized patients with breast cancer on the benefits of physical therapy and signs/symptoms of lymphedema, a condition of localized fluid retention and tissue swelling caused by a compromised lymphatic system. She is currently in training for vestibular rehabilitation. Michelle recently became engaged and plans to be married in 2016.

Lauren Bottitta

Lauren Bottitta graduated from the University of Scranton in May 2011 with a degree in business management and a minor in human resources. After graduation, Lauren began working as a Recruiting Coordinator at Horizon Blue Cross Blue Shield of New Jersey. Lauren aspires to start a future career in the human resources field. In her spare time, Lauren enjoys spending her weekends at the beach and reuniting with her University of Scranton friends.

Nicholas Capobianco*

Born and raised in Londonderry, New Hampshire, Nicholas Capobianco is entering his third year at The University of Scranton. On the path to a Doctorate of Physical Therapy degree, Nick will pursue a major of Exercise Science with a concentration in Nutrition as well as a minor in Health Administration. Since high school, Nick has been determined to "...set the world on fire." However, it wasn't until arriving at Scranton that he associated his drive to succeed, help others, and better himself in various disciplines with the popular Ignatian principle. The University has since become a second home to Nick, as well as a platform that allows him to explore his interests and develop further into the force for good he is determined to be. In his first two years, Nick has become a member of the University's Refugee Solidarity Committee, Exercise Science Club, and was recently elected Captain of the Mock Trial Team. Trips to the gym, court, or field for intramural sports occupy some of Nick's free time, while enjoying the company of his friends, a pen and paper, or a video camera occupies the rest. Nick has discovered that, akin to New England, Scranton breeds a community rooted in the genuine nature of all those who inhabit it. It is this notion that Nick hopes to carry with him beyond the University, as he intends to push the boundaries of his field to help grant anyone the ability seek the communities, opportunities, and achievements that may call to them as Scranton has to him.

Allison Carey

Allison Carey graduated from the University of Scranton in May 2012 with a degree in international language/business with concentrations in both Spanish and Chinese. After graduation, Allison traveled to Taipei, Taiwan on a Huayu Enrichment Scholarship to continue her study of Mandarin Chinese. She is currently employed as a Project Manager at Consortra Translations, a foreign-language translation company focused exclusively on the legal industry. Allison is focusing on gaining work experience before returning to school for her MBA degree.

While at Scranton, Allison was very active and involved in several organizations at the University. She was a member of both the Honors Program and the Business Leadership Honors Program. In addition to serving as a resident assistant on campus, Allison was a member of the Spanish Club, Business Club and Habitat for Humanity. She worked as a University campus tour guide and writing center consultant and volunteered at the Leahy Clinic as a Spanish translator. Her hobbies include reading, dance and travel.

Patrick Chapman*

Patrick Chapman is a junior at The University of Scranton from Yardley, PA. He is currently pursuing undergraduate degrees in Psychology and Counseling/Human Services. In his first two years at Scranton, Patrick has been heavily involved with community service as a work-study for Campus Ministries' Center for Service and Social Justice. He has participated in many local service programs, including FIRST, Spark, Mentoring Young Minds, and recently traveling on a service trip to Baton Rouge, LA. He participates in other clubs and organizations on campus, including Campus Ministries' retreat program, Electric City Ultimate Frisbee club, Psychology club, and serving as an orientation assistant. Patrick is also in the University's Honors Program, along with being a teaching assistant. He enjoys spending time with his friends, especially playing sports like volleyball, ultimate frisbee, and racquetball. At home, he loves spending time with family and friends, whether its playing basketball, cheering on the Philadelphia Eagles, or eating delicious food at family cookouts. Following graduation, Patrick aspires to pursue a master's degree in counseling, and participate in a long-term service program.

Cassie Doheny

Cassie Doheny recently earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in communication and a Bachelor of Arts degree in theology studies in May 2014. While at Scranton Cassie worked as a resident assistant and was involved in several clubs and organizations around campus including the Scranton Emerging Leaders Program, Christian Learning Community and Students for Suicide Prevention. Cassie resides in Blue Bell, PA and is a Marketing Assistant for WMI Industries in Colmar, PA. She is a member of the Fundraising/Marketing Committee for The Kelly Ann Dolan Memorial Fund, an organization that helps families in the Tri-State area caring for children with serious illnesses, disabilities and injuries, by providing financial assistance for needs not covered by insurance.

Sinead Farrelly

Sinead Farrelly graduated from the University of Scranton Honors Program in May 2011 with a Bachelor of Science degree in exercise science. She was presented with the Lawrence A. Mann Student Life award during Class Night for her demonstrated leadership, kindness and generosity of spirit values she upholds. Sinead graduated from the University in May 2014 earning her Doctorate of Physical Therapy. She is forever grateful to the Kelly family for receiving the William Kelly Jr. Memorial Scholarship and for the wonderful time she and her family spent with the Kelly's at the golf classic.

Anthony Faso

Anthony Faso is a 2017 University of Scranton graduate from Walden, NY, located in the Hudson Valley. He is currently pursuing graduate studies at the University, working towards his master's degree in Occupational Therapy with a concentration in Human Development. Most recently, Anthony completed his first Level 2 fieldwork at Anderson Center for Autism in Staatsburg, NY. While at Scranton, Anthony participated in various clubs and organizations on campus including the Mountain Sports Club, Student Occupational Therapy Association, and the Scranton Emerging Leaders program (as a program attendee and student facilitator). Anthony served as a Resident Assistant for upperclassmen and a student supervisor in the Office of Admissions' Telecounseling Department. At home in NY, when he is not working, he appreciates being outdoors hiking, fishing, and hunting with his dad, and he looks forward to his family's annual vacation to Long Beach Island, NJ each summer. Following graduation, Anthony aspires to live and work in the New York City area, and eventually move south to the Washington D.C. area.

Sarah Fish

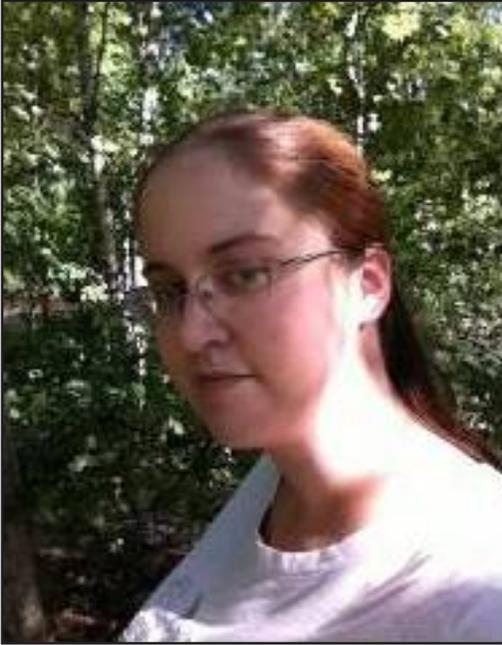

A resident of Old Forge, Pennsylvania, Sarah Fish recently graduated from the University in May 2015 with a Bachelor of Science degree in biology. While at Scranton, Sarah was involved in many clubs and organizations around campus including the Health Professionals Organization (HPO), Colleges Against Cancer, Habitat for Humanity, International Service Program (ISP), the Biology Club and the Psychology Club. She volunteered for the Hospital Elder Life Program in addition to working as a life guard year round. Sarah enjoys jigsaw puzzles, reading, hiking, swimming, basketball, softball and traveling.

Tristan Flood

Tristan Flood is a junior at the University of Scranton and is from Gouldsboro, Pennsylvania. He is pursuing a degree in biochemistry with a minor in political science. Tristan has shown an interest in science classes since high school, taking AP chemistry, biology, physics, and calculus. Along with being a fulltime student at the University of Scranton, Tristan works two jobs. He spent six years working at Montage Mountain as a lifeguard and ski technician. During the school year, he is a member of the Health Professions Organization and works in the Financial Aid Office at Scranton. He also works at the physical therapy pool at John Heinz Rehab in Wilkes-Barre, PA. At this job he assists patients with their walking and helps the physical therapists. In his free time, Tristan enjoys being outdoors, fishing, golfing, reading, and drawing. After his undergraduate studies, he wishes to pursue professional school and become a practicing physician. His inspiration for his career choice comes from his late grandmother who he cared for since he was a child.

Joyce Frisbie

Since attending the University of Scranton, Joyce enrolled in the Professional Massage Therapy program at McCann School of Business and earned her Associates Degree in July 2010. She is currently employed at Blackledge Family Chiropractic as a licensed massage therapist. Joyce is also currently enrolled in Miller Motte College's online program and working to complete her criminal justice degree. Joyce is grateful for the Kelly Scholarship and attributes this scholarship to giving her the drive to continue to work toward and achieve her academic and career goals. Joyce would like to complete her criminal justice degree and take the appropriate courses to become a trained and certified mediator.

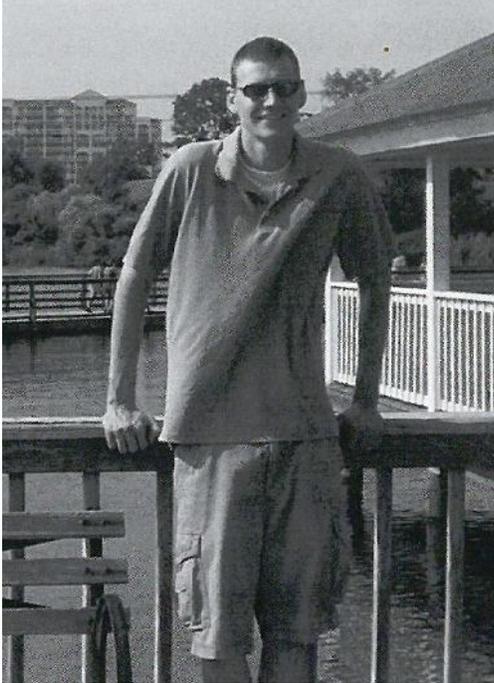

Erica Licari*

Erica Licari is a University of Scranton junior from Smithtown, NY, located on Long Island. She is a Pre-Med student pursuing a double major in Biology and Philosophy, and is a member of the Special Jesuit Liberal Arts Honors Program (SJLA). This program provides students with a unique curriculum that covers literature, philosophy and theology, while developing and expanding critical thinking and analysis skills. Erica is also a starter on the University's Women's Soccer Team, and has been selected as a captain for the upcoming season. She serves as an active member in the Health Professions Organization and the Show Your Stripes Club. She volunteers with the Big Friends Little Friends Organization, where she tutors children at their elementary school weekly. During her second year, Erica volunteered as a teaching assistant for General Biology Laboratories and she plans to work as a teaching assistant in Comparative Vertebrate Anatomy and Microbiology Laboratories this upcoming year. At home, Erica enjoys playing soccer with her friends, going to the beach, and spending time with her family, while also looking forward to her family's annual vacation to Lake George, NY. In addition to working part-time to help pay for college, this summer Erica is gaining experience in the medical field by shadowing both a general practitioner and a cardiologist. Following graduation, Erica aspires to attend medical school with the goal of serving her community one day as a medical doctor and cardiologist.

Eugene Marks

Eugene graduated from the University of Scranton in 2005 with a Bachelor of Science degree in psychology. He received his Master of Arts degree in psychology from Marywood University in January 2008. Eugene currently resides in Pittston, Pennsylvania and is employed by the Northern Lehigh School District as a school psychologist with a focus on meeting diverse learning and behavioral needs of all students in order to promote academic success. In his current role, Eugene is responsible for administering psychoeducational assessments to determine student academic and intellectual strengths and needs. His testing helps provide students with the appropriate educational placements; instructional strategies and various other strategies that will help them succeed in their educational settings.

Mary Martin

Mary Martin earned her bachelor's degree, magna cum laude, in elementary education/special education from the University of Scranton in May 2010. Mary received a Fulbright English Teaching Assistantship to Indonesia and taught English at a semi-military boarding school in West Java. She then spent some time traveling in Southeast Asia, Australia and El Salvador. Mary returned to Philadelphia, to teach ESL, special education and reading at an elementary school for 4 years. In August 2015, Mary began a new adventure and moved to the Cayman Islands, where she will teach special education at the Cayman International School.

Magdalene Elizabeth McGlynn

Maggie McGlynn is a University of Scranton senior from Valley Center, California (just north of San Diego). She is currently pursuing a bachelor's degree in International Studies, with a concentration in Peace and Justice. Maggie's interest in foreign cultures has led her to study Spanish, French, and Arabic languages and a variety of European history classes. She has opted to spend her entire junior year studying abroad – in Copenhagen, Denmark – and hopes to visit many of the countries that she has studied over the past few years. In her first two years, Maggie has competed for the varsity swim team, served as an Orientation Assistant for newly arriving freshmen, and competed in several intramural sports programs. She has also participated in several trips offered by the school, traveling to New York City several times and to Montreal. Maggie also enjoys reconnecting with her extended family, taking occasional weekend trips to the Philadelphia area. She loves the outdoors and enjoys camping, hiking, travel, recreational sports, volunteer service, and working with children. After graduation, she aspires to pursue a position in New York, Washington, or Boston – where she can best utilize her degree in International Studies.

Bridget Miller

Bridget graduated from the University of Scranton in 2009 with a B.S. in elementary education and earned her master's degree in reading education from Scranton in 2010. After receiving her master's degree, she received a full-time teaching contract with the Abington Heights School District as a first grade teacher. Bridget expresses: "My courses and experiences at the University of Scranton helped prepare me for my career and I worked hard to make sure I could end up where I am today."

Dawn Leavy Neenan

Dawn Leavy Neenan is a 2010 graduate of the University of Scranton. She earned her a Bachelor of Arts. degree in international language/business and philosophy. While at Scranton, Dawn was a member of the varsity cross country team and the Special Jesuit Liberal Arts Program. Dawn was also a resident assistant. She has traveled to Ecuador as part of the University's International Service Program and studied abroad in Granada, Spain. Dawn is employed by Cleary Gottlieb Steen & Hamilton as an accounting assistant.

Marissa Papula

Marissa Papula, a member of The University of Scranton Class of 2013, is from Chelsea, New York. She earned her Bachelor of Arts degree in theology/religious studies. While at Scranton, Marissa was a member of Alpha Lambda Delta (National Freshman Honor Society) and Theta Alpha Kappa (National Theology Honor Society). Marissa also participated in Leaders for a Brighter Scranton, Scranton Emerging Leaders I & II, and Christian Life Communities. She has also traveled to El Progreso, Honduras with the International Service Program where she represented the University in building projects and through service to Copprome Orphanage. In her free time, she enjoys baking, reading, hiking and traveling.

Constance Ricciardi

A resident of Pompton Lakes, New Jersey, Constance recently graduated from the University in May 2015 with a Bachelor of Science degree in counseling and human services with a minor in psychology. At Scranton, Constance was involved in several clubs and organizations around campus including the Psychology Club, Counseling and Human Services Club, Habitat for Humanity, Christian Life Communities and Eucharistic Ministry. She has also volunteered on service trips in Washington, D.C. and Staten Island and traveled on an international service trip to Haiti. Constance has also participated in several University retreats such as the Born to be Wild Retreat, Fourth Day Retreat and the 3 Day Silent Retreat. Constance enjoys playing basketball and soccer and loves to run, hike and spend time with her friends.

Matthew Stallone

Matthew earned his Bachelor of Science Degree in Exercise Science from The University of Scranton in May 2017. He is currently pursuing a Doctorate in Physical Therapy where he plans to stay at Scranton for his graduate years. Matthew was a member of the Men's Lacrosse team throughout his first two years at Scranton. Along with participating in service events with his team, he traveled to Jamaica with the International Service Program, an organization run by campus ministry. Although he no longer plays lacrosse, Matthew is involved with many intramurals including soccer and coed volleyball. Within the exercise science department, he has served as a teaching assistant for Biomechanics, a tutor, and sits as treasurer of the Exercise Science Club. At home, Matthew began his passion for mountain biking while working as a mechanic at a local store. During his free time, he enjoys golfing with his father and spending time at the beach with his family. Following his completion of graduate school, Matthew one days plans to open his own private practice.

Michael Wiencek

Michael graduated from the University of Scranton in May 2012 with a degree in biology and philosophy. After graduation, Michael traveled to the small island of Yap in the Micronesian region of the Pacific Ocean where he is helping to establish a new Catholic high school with the Jesuits of the New York Province. When he is not working at the school, Michael is spending his time climbing coconut trees, paddling canoes and spear fishing. During his time at Scranton, Michael worked as a resident assistant in addition to working in the Community Outreach Office as a work study student. He was active in University Ministries and helped lead the Search and Men's retreats. Michael was also captain of the University's Men's Club Volleyball team and a former member of Student Government.

Samantha Zilla

Samantha is a University of Scranton junior from Carbondale, Pennsylvania. She is pursuing her undergraduate degree in occupational therapy and is currently studying abroad at the John Felice Rome Center, a campus of Loyola University Chicago, in Rome, Italy. While at Scranton, Samantha is involved in many clubs and organizations around campus including the Health Administration, College Democrats and the University of Scranton Programming Board. In addition to her employment at a daycare and her volunteer activity at the local community center, Samantha enjoys reading, crafting, going on nature walks and traveling to new places. After graduation, she would like to work abroad with underdeveloped hospitals.

Alison Zocco

Alison graduated from the University of Scranton in 2009 with a B.S. in exercise science. After graduation, Alison worked for 2 years at Cristo Rey Jesuit High School in Chicago as a Jesuit Alumni Volunteer. During her time at Cristo Rey, Alison taught freshman health and physical education and also served as the school's assistant athletic director, student council moderator, homeroom teacher and bus driver. Alison is currently living in Denver, Colorado and has been accepted into the three-year Doctorate of Physical Therapy Program at Regis University.

INVESTING FOR THE LONG TERM

We commend the Bill Kelly Jr. Memorial Fund for providing need-based scholarships to those students in need and helping to preserve the University of Scranton's mission of excellence and accessibility.

At BlackRock, we're also committed to making a difference in the lives of those we serve—the firefighters and teachers, the parents and grandparents who entrust us with their savings. And we take our responsibility to them extremely seriously.

And that's why we deliver those capabilities in a way that only BlackRock can—across asset classes, geographies and active and passive strategies, all enhanced by the deep expertise of BlackRock's investment teams and our unmatched risk management capabilities.

A Parable of Immortality

By Henry Van Dyke

I am standing upon the seashore. A ship at my side spreads her white sails to the morning breeze and starts for the blue ocean. She is an object of beauty and strength, and I stand and watch until at last she hangs like a speck of white cloud just where the sea and sky come down to mingle with each other. Then someone at my side says, "There she goes!"

"Gone where?" Gone from my sight...that is all. She is just as large in mast and hull and spar as she was when she left my side and just as able to bear her load of living freight to the place of destination. Her diminished size is in me, not in her. And just at the moment when someone at my side says, "There she goes!"...There are other eyes watching her coming and other voices ready to take up the glad shout, "Here she comes!"
